

SAT Subject Tests

1. Subject tests should be taken in the content areas that are the student's strength. Also, students need to consider specific college and major requirements when choosing their subject tests. Engineering majors may require that a student complete a subject test in Physics.
2. Students should sign up to take a subject test in a specific area when they have completed the highest level course in the content area. For example, if a student is enrolled in Biology Honors and will not be taking advanced course work in science, the student may want to take the subject test in biology upon completion of Biology Honors.
3. Colleges typically require subject tests from different content areas. Some colleges require two tests, and a few require three subject tests. See the subject requirement chart on the following page for information.
4. Students may choose to test in the area of foreign language, even if they have not taken a course at the high school. This is particularly true for students who speak another language fluently at home or study at an outside institution.
5. Students may register for up to three tests in one day. Each test is one hour long and covers the focused content area.

For more information about Subject Tests, go to pvhigh.com, under CCC>Testing>Subject Tests

SAT Subject Test	PVHS Course
Biology E/M (Ecological/Molecular)	Biology 2 AP
Chemistry	Chemistry 2 AP
Chinese with Listening	Chinese 4/AP
French	French 4/AP
French with Listening	French 4/AP
German	N/A
German with Listening	N/A
Italian	N/A
Japanese with Listening	N/A
Korean with Listening	N/A
Latin	N/A
Literature	English 3 or English 3 Honors or English AP Language
Math Level 1	Algebra 2 or Algebra 2 Honors
Math Level 2	Pre-Calculus or Pre-Calculus Honors
Modern Hebrew	N/A
Physics	Physics B AP or C AP
Spanish	Spanish 4/AP
Spanish with Listening	Spanish 4/AP
United States (U.S.) History	US History or US History AP
World History	World History AP

For a list of schools requiring Subject Tests, copy and paste this link:

http://www.compassprep.com/admissions_req_subjects.aspx

Always check the application requirements for each school you are applying.